United States Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA) Response to Public Comments Received on the Draft Permit Prepared for SYNPRO Division of Dart Industries, Inc. of Cleveland, Ohio.

INTRODUCTION

Pursuant to the Code of Federal Regulations, 40 CFR 124.17, U.S. EPA is responding to public comments received on the SYNPRO draft permit. The comments were solicited through a public notice which appeared in The Cleveland Plain Dealer on July 25, 1983, and through a public hearing held in the ICA Home at 15901 St. Clair Avenue in Cleveland on August 29, 1983. U.S. EPA's response is confined to those issues which are pertinent to conditions set forth in the draft permit which are regulated by the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA). The draft permit conditions are consistent with the requirements of the regulations under RCRA. For comments which have no direct relationship to the storage facility for which the draft permit was written, U.S. EPA will take no position. RCRA requires U.S. EPA to base its permit decision solely on the material in the administrative record, and whether the facility will be able to meet all applicable RCRA standards. Federal regulations governing U.S. EPA's obligation to respond to public comments are given in 40 CFR 124.17.

Comments and Responses

Comment:

The three speakers of record were all concerned that U.S. EPA's procedures for informing the public of the hearing were inadequate.

Response:

On July 25, 1983, U.S. EPA published a public notice in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The notice announced the public comment period, which ran from July 25, 1983, through September 9, 1983, and the public hearing, which was held on August 29, 1983. U.S. EPA also broadcast notice of the public comment period and the public hearing and radio station WJW-AM on July 25, 1983. In addition to the newspaper notice and the radio broadcast, U.S. EPA sent the public notice to the individuals and agencies required by 40 CFR 124.10 and to the individuals and agencies on an area mailing list. U.S. EPA believes it met all the requirements in 40 CFR 124.10 for public noticing a permit action and that its public noticing procedures for this draft permit were adequate.

Comment:

One speaker commented on a number of explosions that had occurred at the manufacturing plant over the past several years; and raised the question as to whether the U.S. EPA had any regulations which deal with the distance between residential property and a hazardous waste storage facility.

Response:

U.S. EPA regulations, 40 CFR 264.176, require that containers holding ignitable or reactive waste must be located at least 15 meters (50 feet) from the property line. However, since SYNPRO will not be permitted to store ignitable or reactive wastes, this regulation is not applicable. The explosion of past years did not involve the storage of hazardous waste in that the explosions were associated with the manufacturing process. The hazardous wastes to be stored pursuant to the permit, barium and cadmium, are not ignitable or reactive. In addition, these wastes will be stored in a secure building separate from the manufacturing area. The U.S. EPA does not regulate the manufacturing process.

Comment:

One speaker expressed concern about traffic in the area where children are playing.

Response:

This concern is not relevant to the on-site storage of hazardous waste to be performed according to the permit. It is a matter for the local authorities to address.

Determination

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA) has determined that some permit conditions should be revised and/or clarified, in order to make the permit more specific. The following table lists the permit conditions that have changed, and the changes which have been made.

Permit Condition

Change

I.D.3

This condition has been revised to reflect the duration of the permit.

II.R.

This condition has been added to recognize that a State-required mechanism may be used to satisfy financial assurance and documentation requirements.

APPEAL PROCEDURES

§ 124.19

§ 124.19 Appeal of RCRA, UIC, and PSD permits.

(a) Within 30 days after a RCRA, UIC, or PSD final permit decision has been issued under § 124.15, any person who filed comments on that draft permit or participated in the public hearing may petition the Administrator to review any condition of the permit decision. Any person who failed to file comments or failed to participate in the public hearing on the draft permit may petition for administrative review only to the extent of the changes from the draft to the final permit decision. The 30-day period within which a person may request review under this section begins with the service of notice of the Regional Administrator's action unless a later date is specified in that notice. The petition shall include a statement of the reasons supporting that review, including a demonstration that any issues being raised were raised during the public comment period (including any public hearing) to the extent required by these regulations and when appropriate, a showing that the condition in question is based on:

(1) A finding of fact or conclusion of law which is clearly erroneous, or

(2) An exercise of discretion or an important policy consideration which the Administrator should, in his or her discretion, review.

(b) The Administrator may also decide on his or her initiative to review any condition of any RCRA, UIC, or PSD permit issued under this part. The Administrator must act under this paragraph within 30 days of the service date of notice of the Regional Administrator's action.

(c) Within a reasonable time following the filing of the petition for review, the Administrator shall issue an order either granting or denying the petition for review. To the extent review is denied, the conditions of the final permit decision become final agency action. Public notice of any grant of review by the Administrator under paragraph (a) or (b) of this section shall be given as provided in § 124.10. Public notice shall set forth a briefing schedule for the appeal and shall state that any interested person may file an amicus brief. Notice of denial of review shall be sent only to the person(s) requesting review.

(d) The Administrator may defer consideration of an appeal of a RCRA or UIC permit under this section until the completion of formal proceedings under Subpart E or F relating to an NPDES permit issued to the same facility or activity upon concluding that:

(1) The NPDES permit is likely to raise issues relevant to a decision of the RCRA or UIC appeals;

(2) The NPDES permit is likely to be appealed; and

(3) Either: (i) The interests of both the facility or activity and the public are not likely to be materially adversely affected by the deferral; or

(ii) Any adverse effect is outweighed by the benefits likely to result from a consolidated decision on appeal.

(e) A petition to the Administrator under paragraph (a) of this section is, under 5 U.S.C. § 704, a prerequisite to the seeking of judicial review of the final agency action.

(f)(1) For purposes of judicial review under the appropriate Act, final agency action occurs when a final RCRA, UIC, or PSD permit is issued or denied by EPA and agency review procedures are exhausted. A final permit decision shall be issued by the Regional Administrator: (i) When the Administrator issues notice to the parties that review has been denied; (ii) when the Administrator issues a decision on the merits of the appeal and the decision does not include a remand of the proceedings; or (iii) upon the completion of remand proceedings if the proceedings are remanded, unless the Administrator's remand order specifically provides that appeal of the remand decision will be required to exhaust administrative remedies.

(2) Notice of any final agency action regarding a PSD permit shall promptly be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.
